

Wine production in European and Mediterranean Countries for the Year 2007

Europe and the mediteranean region of the world is known for its vast wealth of culture, history, and, among many other things, wine. Mapped above is the volume of wine produce in gallons/hectare from each country from this region, in 2007. Luxembourg produced the most, with Germany and Russia close behind.

